

Simge Esin Orhun

Simge Esin Orhun is currently professor at Marmara University, Faculty of Architecture and Design, Department of Industrial Design. Dr. Simge Esin Orhun obtained her Bachelor degree in Architecture from Gazi University, Department of Architecture in 1995, M.A. in Architecture from Istanbul Technical University in 1999 and PhD in the area of Computer Aided Architectural Design from Yildiz Technical University in 2007.

She started teaching in Communication Design since 2003 since today in different universities. She was the founder of Communication Design Department and she acted as the chair of the same department at Özyeğin University between 2013-2021. Her main areas of teaching are spatial communication, interactive exhibiting, ergonomic design and scenography. Her research interests focus on interactive applications in physical space, interactive media design education, spatial organizations of public spaces and design-driven innovation.